Re: Refunds for Event Permit Fees due to Coronavirus-Related Event Cancellations

TABC realizes that the Coronavirus situation is impacting the alcoholic beverage industry in several ways. One major impact is the mass cancellation of events, putting many alcoholic beverage businesses in a tough position.

To help the industry during this difficult time, TABC is allowing alcohol industry members that have acquired a temporary permit for an event that has been cancelled due to the Coronavirus situation to apply for a refund of their permit application fees.

To request a refund, send an email to TABC's Licensing Division (licensing@tabc.texas.gov) that includes the following information:

- Subject: "Event Permit Refund – Coronavirus"
- Short statement explaining that you are seeking a refund for the application fees you paid for a temporary permit because the event for which the permit was acquired was cancelled due to the Coronavirus situation.
- Primary permit number and/or the temporary permit number.
- Name of the company seeking a refund.
- Name of the cancelled event and the location at which it was supposed to take place.
- Date on which you began or planned to begin conducting activities under the permit.
- Date the event was cancelled (attach the cancellation notice).
